

HEAD FOR THE HILLS

HEAD FOR THE HILLS TET 32518 (Hidden in My Heart x Flying Purple People Eater). 7", 32" (40" one year), 4-way branching (range of 3-7), 24 buds (range of 13-56), M, Dor (in GH but more Sev outside), Re (but not outside in MN). As you can see, there are large variations in average budcount and branching and height depending on the weather and crowding. It makes a beautiful clump with lots of bloom and lovely foliage. Medium cranberry that can vary with temperature, grape plus lavender feathery eye, small lavender edge, small white midribs extending about 1/3 of the way up the petals, green throat. Not pod fertile for me, like its pollen parent. The pollen looks good but I haven't used it since I've been intent on setting pods on it to get its plant habit in more of my seedlings.
